Message from the Editors

As the year 2024 comes to an end, we welcome our new President and Office Bearers, Fellows and Members. We shared their joy and achievement at the Conferment Ceremony and the Annual Dinner. We wish all readers a Merry Christmas, and a prosperous and healthy new year. See you in 2025!

Message from the President

Dear Fellows, Members and Associates,

In the festive December of 2024, I am honoured to address you for the first time as the newly-elected tenth President of the Hong Kong College of Paediatricians. To our immediate past President, Professor Simon Lam, and bearers who have just retired from office, I express my heartfelt appreciation. To our newly-elected Office Bearers, I express my sincere gratitude for their strong support. It is an enormous responsibility to walk in the footsteps of our respected predecessors who have built a robust foundation and shaped the College into what it is today, but I am committed to the task with passion and eager to bring in new perspectives amid the rapidly changing landscape of paediatrics healthcare delivery and education in Hong Kong.

While our core virtue to promote and to ensure the highest standard in paediatric education and child healthcare remains a steadfast beacon to guide our path, we need to recognize that the world around us is evolving, evolving at a pace that is beyond the imagination of even the most prophetic visionary. Our College must acknowledge and respond to these changes to stay vibrant, relevant, and fit for purpose. I am excited to announce that the College has several initiatives planned to enhance our training programmes and to engage our young people, who are the torchbearers of our legacy, in various capacities. Each of you, associates, members and fellows, has a vital role to play in our collective endeavour. My doors are always open to your suggestions and feedback.

As we look forward to a brighter yet adventurous 2025, let us remember that our strength lies in our unity. Let us do so with hope, enthusiasm, and readiness for the opportunities that lie ahead.

Best wishes,
Yiu-fai Cheung

The New Paediatric Training Curriculum – Part 3 of 3

How many formative assessments is a trainee required to do?

Trainees are required to have performed the minimum number of the assessment before the completion of training:

DOPS – a trainee should be certified to be able to perform the procedures listed in domain 3 independently.

MiniCEX – 10 to 15 in three years, or about 3 in six months

CbD (General Paediatrics) – 6 in three years, or 1 in six months

CbD (Safeguarding) – 1 in three years

PaedMSF – once a year

The assessments should be evenly spread out in the training. Training supervisors are requested to report if a trainee has performed these assessments regularly.

What will happen if a trainee performed poorly at the formative assessments?

Trainees who performed poorly at the formative assessments are encouraged to discuss with the trainers or training supervisor about the ways to improve. Remedial actions should be offered by the training institutions or the College if such situation arises. Poor performance at formative assessments should be dealt with in a supportive rather than punitive manner. The formative assessment results will not affect the result of the summative assessments.

How does the new curriculum affect the trainers and trainees?

The formative assessments necessitate the direct observation and interaction between trainers and trainees. Therefore, trainers will predictably spend more time in observing trainees and giving feedback to them. Trainees are responsible for their own professional development. They should ensure they have completed at least the minimum number of assessments, and to keep the record of these assessments in their personal portfolio (either in paper form or electronic form). Elevation to membership and fellowship still requires the passing of the intermediate examination and the exit assessment respectively. Case-logging, however, will not be required.

What will happen at the training institution after the launching of the new curriculum?

There will be no significant change to the training arrangement at training institutions. The usual practices, e.g. assigning trainers to trainees, rotation arrangements, will remain the same.

The restriction of 3 trainees per training team (two basic + one higher or one basic + two higher) will remain.

Can basic trainers do formative assessments with higher trainees?

Yes. The feedback from basic trainers to higher trainees is just as valuable.

What is the implication of CBME?

CBME allows more flexibility of training. The training need of individual trainees will be honoured, and the time-based and volume-based restrictions in training accreditation may become unnecessary eventually.

Please visit <https://hkpaedcr.paediatrician.org.hk> for more information on the new curriculum. There is a short summary that contains a section on the frequently asked questions.

If you have any enquiry, please write to enquiry@paediatrician.org.hk.

Update on the Training Centre Accreditation Criteria of Paediatric Respiratory Medicine Specialty

At the 212th Council Meeting on 24 September 2024, the Council has approved a proposal of the Paediatric Respiratory Medicine (PRM) Board to add one category of PRM training centre. A new category of training centre of one year training with one trainer is added. The caseload and service criteria for accreditation are the same as training centres with two trainers. The maximum training duration allowed at this new category of training centre is 12 months. This change will increase the training positions to cater for the increasing number of trainees in this specialty. The rotation to a full-fledged training centre is still mandatory, the College Council agreed that the quality of training will not be affected.
